SPRINGVILLE NEWS

BY WINNIE GAGE

Private First Class Robert Russell has returned to Camp Pendleton after visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Olena Strickland for a few days.

He was accompanied by his fiancee, Miss Lynne Bennett of Lakewood, California.

Robert attended school in Springville and attended Porterville High School and college in Norwalk, was employed by Douglas Air Craft before entering the service one year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. John Berry and children, Jacqueline, Laurel and Mathew of Margate, England were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Gregg.

Mrs. Ethel Rush (former resident of Springville) is houseguest of Mrs. Anna Green. Mrs. Rush sold her home on Tule River Drive and moved to Whitwell, Tennessee the past year. She also visited in Guild, Tennessee.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert L'Etoile of Winchendon, Mass. are guests of their son Lt. and Mrs. Robert L'Etoile and family on Bear Creek Road.

Mrs. Odessa Sturm and her sister Mrs. Doshia Duvall have returned home after a two week trip visiting relatives in Kansas City and Warsaw, Missouri.

The Tule River Houndsmen Association held a meeting Thursday evening in the Lyman Gage home.

Plans were made to hold a Field Trial November 19 and 20th in Dick Vernon's field on Bear Creek Road above Springville, with Elmer Dennis of Tulare and S.D. Null of Porterville as Marshalls. W.A. Pope of Tulare is in charge of judges.

Do-nuts and coffee will be served by Mrs. Alvin Meeks and Mrs. Gage.

Springville unit of the Springville County Hospital Auxiliary will hold a 3 day Boutique Fair, November 17, 18 and 19 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at 181 North Main in Porterville.

Mrs. Walter Ligon is General Chairman of the Fair. Mrs. Earl Kinyon is arrangement chairman.

Mrs. Kenneth Van Ness is Publicity chairman.

Mrs. Ward Hodges is in charge of Decorations. All proceeds will go to help the Auxiliary project at the Hospital.

The Bargain Center in Springville located back of Post Office is open every day from 10 A.M. to 2 p.m.

The Auxiliary has 34 members with committee leaders; Mrs. Joe McDonald shopping for the patients; Mrs. Ed Carter, Bargain Center; Mrs. W.A. Floyd, Art Show; Mrs. Kenneth Van Ness, Friendship.

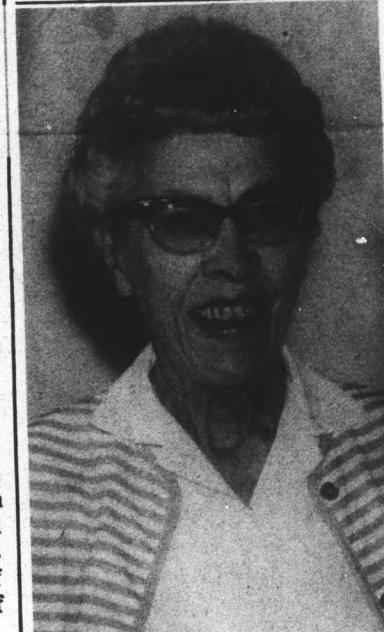

Mrs. Cleo Mymeyer of

THE QUESTION — WHAT DO WE GET?

By Bill Rodgers

When voters go to the polls December 20 to decide whether or not the Porterville college district is annexed to the Kern Joint Junior College district, they should have knowledge of the answer to two basic questions:

1. What do the people of the present Porterville College district give in order to become part of the large Kern county district;
2. What do people of the present Porterville College district get in return for what they give?

And, in relation to the question of annexation, we

ROBERT AUTENRIETH, top left, export sales manager for Sunkist Growers, told of progress being made and indications for increased future export sales of citrus when he appeared Monday evening as principal speaker at annual dinner meeting of the Tulare County Fruit Exchange, held in the Congregational church annex. He also showed slides of his business travels in several countries of the world. Seated with him are Curtis Anderson, manager, Grower Relations department for Sunkist, and Ralph Tyrrell, of Terra Bella, a member of the Sunkist board. Lower, from left, The Rev. Bill Rogers, who gave the invocation; Vic Meier, of Porterville, a Sun-kist director; Leo McMillis, manager of the Tulare County Fruit Exchange, and Bill Baird, board president. During the afternoon, annual meeting of the County Exchange board was held at the Porterville office, however, "because of the press of business," directors did not get around to electing officers, but voted to adjourn to a call by the board president for an election meeting.

Porterville post office is open for business today in the permanent building on Mill street after operating out of a temporary location on D street while the post office building was being enlarged and modernized.

COLORFUL PROGRAM SET FOR COLLEGE HOMECOMING

PORTEVILLE - A new, colorful, and ambitious event is in store for the Porterville community Saturday, as students at Porterville College stage a full-scale Homecoming celebration that will feature a parade, a traditional football game, a dance and a reception for old grads.

The parade, featuring floats prepared by student organizations on the college campus, will move through the downtown Porterville business district at 10 a.m., and a second parade will be presented as part of a half-time show in Jamison stadium during the Porterville College-Alan Hancock college football game.

PANTHERS UNVEIL PASSING GAME TO SMOTHER MT. WHITNEY PIONEERS

Porterville High School's Panthers, currently holding an 8-1 record and a tight grip on second place in the Central Yosemite League, travel to Hanford Friday night for the final game of the 1966 season, after smashing the Mt. Whitney Pioneers, 40-7, in Visalia's Mineral King stadium on Veteran's Day. Played in the crisp afternoon sunlight, this game saw the Panthers unveil a highly efficient passing game which accounted for four touchdowns. Mt. Whitney came into the game sporting the reputation of a team that throws often and well, but it was the Panther slinger, Bob Marshall, who threw the strikes. Marshall set the pattern for the afternoon on the Panthers' first offensive series. The Orange and Green drove 57 yards and scored on a seven yard pass to Bill Nairn. The

As for Pete - founder of Porterville's Barn theater and later an award-winning TV director - he and his wife have a ranch house and 120 acres of farm land in Vermont near Montpelier, where they have been spending the late summer and fall painting, cutting wood, putting up storm shutters and generally getting ready for winter, which has arrived back there. Before Pete left Hollywood for Vermont, he directed the soon-to-be-released motion picture, "Doctor, You've Got To Be Kidding," starring George Hamilton, Sandra Dee and Celeste Holmes; he expects to be back at work in Hollywood shortly after the first of the year... SHAKESPEARE'S "COMEDY OF ERRORS"
TO BE STAGED IN PORTERVILLE BY LOS ANGELES CITY COLLEGE GROUP

Shakespeare comes to Porterville during the Thanksgiving weekend. The Los Angeles City College Theater Arts department will present Shakespeare's "Comedy of Errors" Saturday, November 26th, in the Porterville Memorial auditorium, under sponsorship of the AAUW and the Barn theater.

Bill Pukmel, president of the Barn's board of directors said "The Los Angeles City College players are returning to Porterville at our request, the result of their most successful production of Shakespeare's 'Taming of the Shrew' two years ago.

According to Pukmel, Porterville theater-goers who saw the "shrew" production were pleasantly surprised to learn that Shakespeare need not be dull and strictly academic but can be quite colorful and thoroughly delightful. Over 600 persons saw the production.

"Comedy of Errors" will be performed in Commedia Dell' Arte style as if an Italian strolling act troupe

Now that elections have settled the fate of the nation, rains have come, and snows have decorated the mountains we can relax and think about all the turkey we'll enjoy Thanksgiving. There is less incentive to garden and there are fewer things needing attention outside so you should really get the ironing done and the house organized.

If this idea leaves you cold there is leaf raking to warm you up and all those weather beaten flowers and shrubs to be removed. Tree roses, small trees, and occasionally vines need tying to stout stakes before an L.A. twister blows them over. Potted plants that might freeze should be edged toward a warm patio or overhanging roof. Those that can't be moved need covering with plastic supported by a wooden frame. Many home remedies for frost actually make things worse so either look up the directions in Sunset Complete Garden Book or call us for similar information.

If you look closely you'll discover these showers haven't soaked the soil very deeply. This means shrubs and trees of value should have a deep watering once a week. Camellias and Azaleas especially require wet feet to keep the buds from falling. It's also last call for bulb planting so grab the rain gear and come on along to "E" Street just North of Olive.

renaissance. All costumes and scenery were especially designed and constructed for this production. A cast and crew numbering over 30 will make the trip to Porterville. The Barn Theater spokesman said the Theater Arts department of the Los Angeles City College is widely known and respected as "one of the finest dramatic arts departments in the nation". Tickets for "Comedy of Errors" are available from members of the AAUW.

 big gainer in the drive was a 20 yard throw to Gary Hill.

Realizing that he had a good thing going, Marshall stayed with it. On the next series he hit Nairn for 30 yards and then bootlegged for the touchdown. In the second quarter Marshall (yawn) tossed 20 yards to Nairn and a TD. In the same quarter Marshall threw 17 yards to Calvin Plunk and another score. Mike McConnell swiped a Pioneer pass early in the first quarter and rambled 30 yards to paydirt. The Panthers left the field with a 33-0 advantage at halftime.

The second half was a little different. The Panthers were held scoreless in the third quarter, but Marshall homed in on Gary Hill for a 33 yard touchdown toss in the fourth quarter.

Friday night the Panthers meet a Hanford team which has been good, but more often bad. The 'pups boast a fine running back in Leather Booker, a halfback who has lots of fast to go with good size. After Booker the Hanford offense is hard to describe, but "bad" is pretty close.

The Panthers should win but they can't loaf. The Bullpups have beaten some good teams, and if they are on one of their good games they will be hard to handle.

The half-time show will also include entertainment by the Panther band, under direction of Buck Shaffer, and the crowning of the Homecoming queen.

And football fans should see a fine ball game as the Pirates tangle with the boys from the coast. A campus rally is slated for Friday.

A Homecoming dance, for students and former students, is set for the college gym following the football game, with dancing to continue until 12:30 a.m.

Members of the Porterville College Patrons' association will host a reception for alumni at 2 p.m. at the college. Invitations have gone out to recent former students—but all Pirates of past years are welcome.

Selected as the five finalists for Homecoming queen are: Bev Tomlinson and Diana Dotters, sophomores; and Priscilla Shires, Julia Owen, and Linda Ralphs, freshmen.

Adding campus interest to the morning parade is a trophy that will go for the most original parade entry. Three ribbons each for floats and decorated cars will also be awarded.

General chairman of the College Homecoming event is Linda Jones.

his Tribune subscription solely because of the extremely high quality of the publication and most certainly not because his mother sent him a dun note.

FOR THE first time in several years a Porterville cowboy is not listed among the top 90 professional rodeo performers who are eligible to compete in the "world series" of rodeo — the National Finals — this year December 3-10, in Oklahoma City. Porterville's Bob Wiley, who consistently ranked nationally among the top four calf ropers, dropped off the big-time list more than a year ago when he started to concentrate on a successful campaign for sheriff of Tulare county, and Bob Robinson, former great saddle bronc and bull rider who attended Porterville college for a couple of years, is now residing near Clovis, concentrating on an education at Fresno State, and conducting his own Rodeo school.

OH YES! The election: First off, may we apologize for certain incorrect results that we whipped into type during the last-minute rush of our annual Progress Edition. To set the record straight, not only did Ronald Reagan and Bob Finch clobber E.G. Brown and Glenn Anderson, but Democrats toppled in all directions to make winners out of Houston Flournoy, state controller; Ivy Baker Priest, state treasurer; and Frank Jordan, of whom there is no one old enough to remember when a Jordan wasn't secretary of state. Only surviving Democrat in the state hierarchy is Tom Lynch, attorney general, whose child-like, bitter emotional outburst in accepting victory makes us believe that he should have also been sent down the road... Many of the smart news media boys have already explained why the Republicans picked up power not only in California, but in Washington and in several state capitols. We think it can all be summed up in a few words: We the people are worried and fed up, so we voted a change. After all, it's happened before, even to Republicans. Personally the years that we spent as a working politician led us to one enlightened conclusion that elections are won by the candidate who gets the most votes, in fact we find this point of view somewhat difficult to argue against . . . Then there are the post-election stories: Wednesday morning Pat Brown wired LBJ in Washington, "I'm out of work. What do you have for me? Your old friend, Pat." Wired back LBJ, "Pat who?" . . . And as one Republican philosopher put it, "The first election in years that was worth closing the bars for." . . . In discussing the general situation with one of the successful Republican candidates at the state level, we pointed out that it took California Republicans nearly 15 years after World War II to kick their political prosperity down the drain, while it has taken the Democrats only eight years to duplicate the feat in reverse. We then suggested that he, and the rest of the clan, can now go back to Sacramento and get the Republicans once again on the trail toward political collapse. "But we'll do it quicker and better than anyone this time," said our Republican friend. "We're computerized now." . . . But isn't it fine that we the people can speak in California and in America, then, after having spoken long and loud, and sometimes with too much bitterness, laugh a little, crack a couple of jokes, and get back to the business of friendly living.

THE QUESTION —

You may be surprised to learn, when you read this agreement, that if Porterville college is annexed to the Kern district, all assets of Porterville College, totalling nearly $2,000,000, become the property of the Kern Joint Junior College district.

In return, under terms of the agreement, the Kern Joint Junior College district agrees to accept these assets.

That's it.

There is nothing in the agreement to guarantee or assure anything for Porterville college—not even that Porterville college will continue to exist.

And under the probable setup of the Kern district board organization, the Porterville area would have one representative—one vote, on a board of seven trustees—seven votes.

Oh yes. It is agreed that Jamison stadium, its concession facilities, and parking area, can be used for school events (we presume high school football games) with consent of the Kern County Joint Junior College district.

Talk of all the fine things that will happen to Porterville college if annexation is approved is only talk.

It is possible that all the fine things would come to pass. To implement them, we people of Porterville would have one vote out of seven—and the hope that the Kern board would treat us kindly.

(Ed. note. We plan to publish the text of the agreement to annexation in next week's issue.)

Dinner Dance

A barbecue steak dinner with sparkling Burgundy, prepared by Leo Staley, will be served at 7:30 p.m.; entertainment will include Folklorico Dancers and Mariachi. Funds from the benefit event will go toward robes for the newly-formed Guadalupe Boy's choir, and also toward 25 folding chairs with kneelers attached.

General chairman is Isaac Gonzales; Vice chairman of the event and publicity chairman is John Balderama; decorations are in charge of Georgeana Ramirez and Yolanda Mendiola; tables will be arranged by Richard Mendiola; ushers will be headed by Julian Vellejo; hosts are Victor Cruz, Cecil Salas and Gilbert Ynigues.

A no-host social hour will precede the dinner.
